Synopsis The world stands on the brink of war when a Royal Navy frigate, allegedly in Chinese territorial waters, is sunk by Chinese MIG fighters. Britain threatens to send the fleet to China in retaliation, but MI6 suspect foul play, due to a mysterious global positioning system signal sent from a satellite belonging to media mogul Elliot Carver. Bond is sent to investigate Carver, and in the process teams up with Chinese agent, Wai-Lin. Together, they uncover Carver's plan to fire a cruise missile, stolen from the sunken frigate, at Beijing in order to cause a war between the British and Chinese. One of Carver's associates, General Chang, is poised to take over the government in the ensuing confusion, and in return Carver will gain exclusive broadcasting rights in China for the next 100 years.
